

I am opposed to any requirement that New Jersey be forced to reduce the effectiveness of its "Do Not Call" law. Allowing states to impose their own restrictions do not create any particular hardships on telemarketing companies, since checking the Do-Not-Call database of New Jersey or any other state is easily accomplished with available technology.